

VIII. FACULTY TRAVEL

The University encourages faculty attendance at regional and national professional meetings. It urges participation of faculty members in the presentation of papers and as elected officers in professional associations. Guidelines are established by the Deans of the major academic units and vary from year to year depending on budget allocation. The Deans will indicate the policy early in the academic year.

For details of Washburn travel procedures, see the Washburn University Policies, Regulations, and Procedures Manual.