

VII. STUDENT CONDUCT AND DISCIPLINARY CODE

Washburn University strives to provide an environment in which students may pursue their educational interests. Students are expected to conduct themselves in a manner which promotes learning and preserves academic freedom for all.

Students are subject to the imposition of sanctions for engaging in prohibited conduct or behaviors independent of any other status they might have with the University. Conduct standards are set forth in writing to give Washburn students general notice of prohibited behavior.

Click on the following link to access the Student Conduct Code (<https://www.washburn.edu/student-life/policies-forms/academic-policies.html>).