

THEATRE, BA

The B.A. in Theatre prepares students to apply skills in professional, semi-professional, community and recreational theatre and in many related fields including public relations, advertising, media professions, and entertainment. The degree prepares students in fundamental core coursework and offers flexibility through elective coursework to acquire knowledge and skills in a student's interest area. Practical work in theatrical production is required to allow students to demonstrate the ability to apply concepts in coursework. Theatre is part of Washburn University's College of Arts and Sciences and serves students, the University and the community in their scholarly and creative work.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students graduating with a B.A. in Theatre are expected to have acquired skills in Performance, Theatre Technology, and Theatre history, literature and criticism. Students will be able to:

- Demonstrate acquired skills in vocal expression, interpretation and performance.
- Demonstrate acquired conceptual skills in theatre aesthetics, design/technology, construction and execution.
- Demonstrate content knowledge and the ability to analyze and evaluate dramatic texts.
- Demonstrate the ability to respond critically to dramatic literature and theatre performances.
